Simon Knutton

The company is always represented by the owner – Simon Knutton – so you are never having to work through others. Simon is one of the very few engineers that more often than not, will look at the commercial aspects of his design. He is extremely approachable and always willing to assist and listen to different ideas. He has a philosophy of always been part of the solution and not the problem

Drawing Office

Knutton Consulting drawing office is extremely deadline orientated producing great quality drawings that are always "user friendly" for the guys on site.
